INTRODUCTION

According to Wikipedia, Cucumis metuliferus, commonly called kiwano, is an annual vine in the cucumber and melon family.

The kiwano project is an initiative to aid the real-world usage and adoption of cryptocurrencies and blockchain technology.

We observed that in the present crypto space, development of the blockchain technology is the main focus instead of the utilities and usage of the technology. Only a hand full of projects have their priorities set to real-world usability.

It is well-known in the crypto space that the technology aid super-fast transactions, records are immutable, the technology helps in distribution chains and other established systems.

The idea of the kiwano project is to get this technology into people hands without them having an in-depth understanding of the technology.

We want to aid real-world usage and adoption of cryptocurrencies and blockchain technology by providing real-world use of the technology.

The Kiwano ecosystem will revolve around a crypto-powered learning platform.

MISSION STATEMENT

By bringing people, information and technology together, we help improve the efficacy of financial transactions and economic growth for the individual and the larger society.

OUR VALUES AND BELIEFS

We believe the present crypto space is not pushing as much as it should for the adoption of cryptocurrencies and that there isn't enough real-world usage of the technology.

We believe that every individual is obligated to advance and sustain financial inclusion and innovation at all levels.

We believe that mass adoption of this technology in various sectors will bring about financial inclusion and empowerment to people of all works of life.

OUR GOALS

To be at the forefront of cryptocurrencies and blockchain technology adoption.

To give investment and financial opportunities to people that it's not readily accessible.

FEATURED PROJECT PRODUCTS

A Payment Gateway (Kiwano Pay)

With 'kiwano pay,' Merchants can accept payments in cryptocurrencies on their websites or apps the same way they do with bank transfers and credit cards. Paying for products and services with cryptocurrencies will be made more convenient. The infographic image below explains how the payment gateway works.

A Defi Exchange (Kiwano Swap)

Defi exchanges became popular when the 'uniswap' exchange became popular. A Defi exchange gets rid of third parties. Also, the price of buying and selling is from the blockchain smart contract.

Traditional crypto exchanges often require you to give away personal details such as your name and location.

A Defi exchange does not require you to provide any personal details.

You are also in charge of your crypto; it is always in your wallet under your protection when you trade.

An Investment Platform (Kiwano Finance)

Kiwano Finance will be the first crypto finance platform that an individual can invest in startups, agriculture, small businesses and fiat currencies, not just crypto assets. We plan on streamlining it with features that will put the platform as the number one crypto finance platform.

A Learning Platform (Kiwano Learn)

This platform will host courses that teach about the development, uses and potential of blockchain technology, cryptocurrencies and other related technologies. People will receive varieties of cryptocurrencies to enrol in most of the courses.

More information and updates about the platforms listed above, and the ones not listed, will be given via our medium page and in future versions of our whitepaper.

AIRDROP

There will be a 4-stage airdrop distribution.

In the first stage, we will distribute a designated number of tokens to individuals that complete the community task. This task is just a simple follow-on social media task. This airdrop will be distributed soon after the initial crowd sale.

In the second stage, we will distribute a designated number of tokens to people that participated in the initial crowd sale. Individuals that spent 50 dollars and above during the crowd sale will benefit from the second airdrop.

This airdrop will be distributed soon after the 'kiwano Learn' platform is released.

In the third stage, we will distribute a designated number of tokens to people that participated in the initial crowd sale. Individuals that spent 500 dollars and above during the crowd sale will benefit from the third airdrop. This airdrop will be distributed soon after the 'Kiwano Finance' platform is launched.

In the last stage, we will distribute a designated number of tokens to people that participated in the initial crowd sale. Individuals that spent 1500 dollars and above during the crowd sale will benefit from the last airdrop. This airdrop will be distributed soon after the 'Kiwano Pay' platform is launched.
